1. POLICY

1. Student misconduct or any act that violates the policies of the institution; or breaches of conduct involving morality, ethics, privacy or legality that could affect the reputation of the institution or the chiropractic profession or adversely affect a third party; or an attempt to commit or assist someone to commit such acts, is subject to discipline as outlined in the Discipline policy.
2. Undergraduate students are prohibited from holding themselves out or allowing themselves to be represented as a chiropractor.
3. Under no circumstance shall an undergraduate student adjust/manipulate another individual except under the direction or supervision of a licensed chiropractor who is a faculty member of CMCC, or is supervising in the role of an approved externship field practitioner.
4. Clinical training experience outside of Canada will be handled on a case by case basis and approved by the Dean, Undergraduate and Graduate Education, and Dean, Clinics.
5. Undergraduate students are prohibited from providing treatment, advice, or acting in a clinical manner as it relates to a chiropractor except under the direction or supervision of a CMCC faculty member who is a licensed chiropractor, and in good standing with the College of Chiropractors of Ontario, or is supervising in the role of an approved externship field practitioner who is a licensed chiropractor, a member of the CCPA, and in good standing with their provincial regulatory body. Undergraduate students who are registered in Ontario for another health profession are prohibited from providing treatment, advice, or acting in a clinical manner within the CMCC clinic system as it relates to that profession except as specifically authorized in writing by CMCC.

6. Under no circumstance shall a student consent to receiving a controlled act from an undergraduate student except under the direction or supervision of a licensed chiropractor who is a faculty member of CMCC.
7. Consent of an individual is not justification for inappropriate conduct by a student.
8. Any member of the CMCC community who has reason to believe that an offence has been committed by a student has a responsibility to report the matter promptly to the Registrar or the Dean, Undergraduate and Graduate Education.
9. Students are individually responsible for their actions and/or misconduct whether acting alone or in a group and have an obligation to make responsible decisions concerning their conduct.

2. PURPOSE

To govern students in their scope of regulated practice.

3. SCOPE

Undergraduate students, including individuals who were students at the time of the event(s) upon which a disciplinary proceeding is based.
